

Internet Safety Top Tips:

Remember to talk to a trusted adult such as a parent or teacher if you feel you have any worries concerning this topic.

Remember, most people, like those in our school are tolerant and respectful of those with other faiths and beliefs. However, in order to stay safe you must be aware of the minority of people in our society who hold extremist views and what to do if you feel either yourself or a friend is being radicalised by an extremist.

St Robert Bellarmine Catholic Primary School

Safeguarding Leaflet For Key Stage 2 Pupils

2016-2017

At St Robert Bellarmine Catholic Primary School, we pride ourselves in promoting Fundamental British Values. During a variety of lessons, each class learns about democracy, the rule of the law, individual liberty, mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs. It is clear to see that all children across our school understand that Britain is a diverse, multi-cultural society and they work hard to ensure that we are an inclusive school.

Our school has zero tolerance approach towards discrimination, bullying and extremism.

All staff and pupils in our school treat each other with respect regardless of their race, gender, religious belief, special need or disability.

This leaflet is designed to educate you on the topic of extremism, something which is often in the media, but a subject that may be difficult to understand.

What is extremism?

The Government has defined extremism as “vocal or active opposition to fundamental British values”.

In other words, people who are extremists often hold extreme political or religious views.

Who are extremists?

Extremists can come from any background, any community or any religion or belief. They can be young or old, male or female, rich or poor. Often, they think that using violence is an acceptable way of changing the way others think or behave.

Having extreme beliefs is not a crime but using unlawful force or threats to support a belief is.

What is radicalisation?

Radicalisation is defined as the process by which people come to support extremism. Often, people who hold extremist views try to befriend young children online and on social media. Therefore, it is extremely important that you follow the SMART rules not only whilst in school but also whilst using the internet at home and report any unusual activity to an adult.
